

HAVILAND CHINA.

637 BLUE

No. 528

W.C. GOLDHANDLE

We do not claim to control the whole Haviland output, or to be the only house that "imports" Haviland's wares; but we do claim to IMPORT DIRECT and to give you as much Haviland, as well as other China, for ONE DOLLAR, as you were able to get here for TWO DOLLARS before we "woke 'em up" with our new China Department. We are told by customers every day that our line is handsomer, that one can find a better variety of patterns, AND MORE OF THEM, than elsewhere in the city. We are naming prices on all kinds of Dinner Sets, and in particular, that is SELLING THEM EVERY DAY. It is pretty hard on the other fellow, but we can't help it now. WE ARE "IN IT" TO STAY. Come and compare our "dollar's worth" with the size of a "dollar's worth" to be had elsewhere.

The money and securities aggregate $90, which is to be invested and given to Thomas W. Oakes, the grandson, when he shall have reached 25 years of age. The entire estate is valued at about $20,000.

HON. D. P. KELDER, of Macomb, who with Captain Keyton, of McLean county, and Ezra Marquis, attended the Farmers' National Congress at Sedalia, Mo., this week, arrived in Deatur this morning. There were about 150 representative farmers present from 30 states in the east, south and north. Illinois and Missouri were well represented. Interesting papers were read and resolutions were adopted recommending the improvement of certain rivers, better railroad transportation and lower rates and a general reduction of taxes to the lowest possible notch consistent with the perfect management of the government.

FELL 39 FEET.

"Dol" Peck's Plunge Off the Presbyterian Mission Church.

This afternoon R. C. Peck, of Carro Gordo, a carpenter employed in the construction of the new Presbyterian mission church, corner of West Mason street and Haworth avenue, had a narrow escape from death. He was astride a plank working on the tower of the mission when the plank parted and "Dol" went rolling down the west valley of the steep roof, falling off to the ground below, plunging a distance of about 39 feet. He fell partly on his back, but fortunately he suffered no very serious injury. He was taken into the Beldridge residence, where he remained until he recovered from the shock of the fall, and then he returned to church, got his dinner pail and walked off down town to his boarding place at the Globe Hotel. Mr. Peck was not hurt, except in the region of the hips. He feels very sore in that part of the anatomy. He may be able to resume work to-morrow.

PERSONAL MENTION.

H. W. Fenton left to-day for a business trip to Chicago.

Giles R. Warren left to-day for New York City, where he will join a farce comedy troupe. He will assume one of the leading roles, and will not return to Deatur for a number of months.

II. Grant Waggoner, conductor on a sleeping car run between Chicago and New York City, arrived in the city last evening from Buffalo, N. Y., to remain with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Waggoner, until he recovers his health.

In some unknown manner he incurred a leg injury in his left foot on his last trip, which has since laid him up. He is able to move about with the aid of crutches. It will be a month before he recovers the use of that member.

A Handsome Window.

Otto E. Curtis & Bro. have recently crowded back enough goods in their greatly crowded store to enable them to enlarge their west show window. It is now "dressed" entirely with goods from their Art Room, on second floor. If you have never been in their Art Room, you will be tempted to go there if you look at this beautiful window.

No Names—No Gloves.

A rather impromptu anti-Margate-of-Queensbury fight occurred on East Carro Gordo street last evening between an American express clerk and a Pacific express messenger, in which the former came out second best. It seems that there was an old grudge existing between the two men and their friends have been expecting the "scrap" for some time. The names and the extent of the injuries are withheld from publication.

A Card.

ED. REPUBLICAN—Sir, If the A. M. E. people and pastor objected to that class of an entertainment in their church, they ought to have done so before the bills were published; then there would have been no mistake about the place. Jo-Jo Bishop said the A. M. E. church gave him permission to have his entertainment there first, and for some cause changed their minds and gave an entertainment themselves of some kind.

G. M. MOORE, Pastor Antioch Baptist Church.

Tugged Him Out.

Passenger-Dresser T. W. Douglas and Engineer Mike Taggart have gone into the capital manufacturing business with capital unlimited. Douglas is the inside man while Taggart operates on the outside principally. It was only this morning that some poor, weather-beaten, exhausted old tramp, ragged and torn, came into the depot and sat down upon the floor. He was a sight. His condition was pitiable, to say the least, and it was this fact that melted the heart of the firm of Douglas & Taggart. Taggart lost no time in going to his room and getting an old overcoat and other articles of wearing apparel. He returned to the depot and presented the goods to the wayfarer in a heart-touching speech. Then Douglas got him a hat and a cup of coffee and something to eat. The change was marvelous. When by the application of food and coffee the man was able to stand on his feet and put on the overcoat he made a right respectable appearance. Of course the man has many friends and acquaintances who will be glad to learn of his streak of good fortune, and Douglas & Taggart will undoubtedly be kept busy throughout the winter.

THE FIRST LECTURE.

Poets and the Poetry Discussed by Mrs. C. P. Woolley, of Boston.

The first of the course of lectures for the season, under the auspices of the Woman's Club, was delivered to an appreciative audience in the lecture room of the Club last evening.

The lecturer was Mrs. C. P. Woolley, assistant of the Woman's Club of Chicago, an authoress of some note, who interested her hearers for more than an hour with a critical review of the poetical works of Alfred Tennyson. Miss Knierper opened the entertainment by an admirable rendition of the song, "Sweet and Low." The lecturer was then presented by Miss Laura V. Wilcox, and proceeded to read, from manuscript, a charming and scholarly dissertation on the subject of the evening. Poetry, she said, is an indefinable as the atmosphere. Of a number of attempted definitions the nearest to accuracy is, "Poetry is truth in form of perfect beauty." Poets are not sudden products, but great results. Sketching rapidly the characteristics of Dante, Milton, Pope, Wordsworth, Shelley, Keats and Browning, she came, at last, to Tennyson, the master poet of the day. In Tennyson there is always an ethical intent, while the musical rhythm is never lost in his utterances. He was master of English poetic form and master of thought. The Victorian religion of the day, the scientific school of thought, among whose disciples were the chosen comrades of the great poet. Embodying the broader modern theories in his writings, they were, at first, criticized by the critics, and his first volume was received with little encouragement. Edgar A. Poe was one of the few who appreciated the poetic genius of even his first efforts.

The lecturer read selections from many of Tennyson's poems, but said that his reputation rested greatly on "Idylls of the King" and "Memoranda." The dramatic poet has a genius for intellect. He did not live among men enough to study character. Hence his dramatic characters, while dramatic and pleasing, are not successful in drama. Yet Tennyson is our most perfect lyrical poet.

At the close of the address D. L. Bunn sang "Ring Out, Wild Bells," Miss Edna Bunn accompanying him.

After the exercises of the evening were concluded a reception was held and many guests were introduced to Mrs. Woolley.

The company then retired to the ante-room, where refreshments were daintily served by Mrs. Matthews and Misses Caldwell, Buckingham, Barnes and Heuser.

MINING HORROR.

Miners Cut Off by Smoke and Flames at Springfield This Morning.

The old North Springfield coal shaft was discovered to be on fire this morning about 2 o'clock. It was caused by the explosion of a lamp in the air box early in the evening, which set fire to some of the wood, but which it was thought was entirely extinguished at the time. It seems however that it was not, and broke out again in full blaze in the wood at the bottom of the mine. Fourteen men were in the shaft at the time and were at work about half a mile from the bottom of the shaft when the smoke began to pour out. As soon as they discovered their danger they shut off the compress box and started for the cage. Eight of them reached the cage by holding their breath and came out safe. The other six were overcome and fell before they reached the shaft. The fire department was called out and reached the scene promptly, and after considerable delay turned a stream on the fire. About 3:15 o'clock four of the men nearest the shaft were rescued in an unconscious condition and brought to the surface. There was still life in them, however, and efforts at resuscitation were promptly resorted to and efforts to recover the other two were pushed with vigor. It is feared they will die before they can be found.

THE BOMB-THROWERS

Another Police Raid on the Chicago Anarchists.

Thirty of the More Rabid Arrested and Locked Up, Charged With Carrying Concealed Weapons and Making inflammatory Speeches.

TOO MUCH SURPRISED FOR RESISTANCE

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—One hundred policemen, under the leadership of Inspector Lewis, marched down upon an anarchist meeting in Grief's hall at 54 West Lake street last night. The moment the first squad of police, headed by Lieut. Wheeler, burst in upon the anarchists, a man named Daniel Suter, who claims to be from Buffalo, N. Y., reached for a revolver in his hip pocket, but before he could use it officers overpowered and disarmed him. Suter made a desperate resistance, hitting and striking the officers with the iron bars put on his wrists and he was hustled off to the Desplaines-street station, fighting like a madman all the way. The twenty-five or thirty men who were sitting in the bar room tried to force their way out to the street, but were prevented by the police. Every man was then searched for weapons. While this was going on another squad of police dashed up the narrow stairway into the hall above. "The police are coming, knock the door," shouted a man in the meeting on the second floor. The door was quickly barred, and the twenty-five men assembled in this dingy little hall making inflammatory speeches valued for the attack.

Only one man here made any resistance. His name was Henry Miller. "D— the police," he shouted. "They are cowards or else they would not draw their revolvers upon ineffective men."

Two officers grasped Miller and searched him. He had a big revolver and fought desperately before it could be taken away from him. Several copies of the speech delivered by Parsons on the night of the bomb-throwing in Haymarket square were found in a box in the hall.

After the building had been thoroughly searched about thirty of the more rabid anarchists were taken to the station. Some of them were booked for carrying concealed weapons, and others for making inflammatory speeches calculated to incite to riot.

What a Leader Can Do.

Buffalo Express: Major McKinley's splendid victory in Ohio shows what the Republican party can do when well organized and well led. Ohio is much more of a Republican State than New York, but Gov. Campbell was personally very popular and a hard man to beat. No other man than McKinley could have fought him so well. New York Republicans have reason to envy Ohio the possession of such a man. If we had him or his peer in this State we should no longer be making the excuse that New York is a Democratic State, anyhow. This is not without any disparagement to the young leader who has so gallantly carried the Republican standard. He has come out of the fight with honor. He has been made greater by defeat. But he was handicapped by his friends.

Will Take It If Offered.

One hundred and fifty of Chicago's prominent business men, with a sprinkling of Illinois politicians, assembled yesterday to consider the ways and means for capturing the Republican National Convention for Chicago. After some discussion it was decided, in deference to the courtesy shown by other sections of the country in aiding Chicago to secure the World's Fair, that no contest should be made in behalf of that city, but if the national committee selects Chicago will liberally provide for the convention.

Temperance at the Court House.

The Court room was crowded again last night, and the meeting was a most interesting one. Short speeches were made by several of "the boys," which were followed by earnest short-talks by Rev. King and Rev. Bonnell and others. Mr. Dunn then took hold and said something to the boys that were well worth hearing and heeding; the singing grew better every night, and the enthusiasm is on the increase. Meeting to-night and every night until further notice.

Now you know that Ferriss & Lapham always sell you shoes cheap.

But all past prices are not in it compared with the low prices which they are now quoting.
